ALFRED JOHN FERRETTI

S.B., M.S., P.E. (MASS.)

Dedication

The growth of a rapidly expanding institution such as Northeastern is primarily due to outstanding men who have devoted their lives to the field of education. One of these men is Professor Alfred John Ferretti to whom we proudly dedicate this year's CAULDRON.

PROFESSOR FERRETTI received his Bachelor's degree from M. I. T. in 1917 and entered the career of teaching that same year. The following year, he came across the Charles to join the teaching staff at Northeastern. In 1934, he received his Master's degree from M. I. T. and, in 1944, he made full professor here at the University. In 1947, he was instrumental in starting the first evening graduate school of engineering in New England and participated as an instructor in the Evening Division until 1950 when he was named to the full time position of Chairman of the Department of Mechanical Engineering for the Day School. During the academic year 1953-54, Professor Ferretti was appointed temporary Dean of Engineering during Dean Alexander's leave of absence.

Professor Ferretti's professional life does not end with his activities here at Northeastern. He was President of the local Refrigeration Society in 1928, Secretary-Treasurer of the Boston Chapter of the A. S. M. E during the years 1941-47 and in 1947 became President of that group. In 1953-55, Ferretti served as President of the Engineering Societies of New England and is now a member of its Board of Trustees. He is also a member of the Guidance Committee of the Engineering Council for Professional Development.

Professor Ferretti's home is in Lynn, where he has shown the same vigorous interest in civic duties. He was founder of the Bees Club of Lynn, which is a society of professional men in the Lynn District. He is a member of the Board of Trustees for the Home for Italian Children in Jamaica Plain. He is also the Vice-president of the Italian Historical Society of Massachusetts.

President's Message

SOMETIME when you are in Washington you will see at the entrance to the National Archives Building on Pennsylvania Avenue two massive figures at each end of the stone terrace; one, an aged man representing "The Past"; and one, a young woman, representing "The Future." Below the latter figure is the inscription from Shakespeare "What is Past is Prologue."

You well know that this statement has proved to be true in the history of our civilization; it is true in our own lives, in the education which prepares us for the future; it is no less true in the growth of Northeastern University.

It is a source of great joy to belong to a college which has a long history, which is filled with tradition. We admire these colleges but there is something challenging and inspiring in sharing the progress of a developing university as you and I do here at Northeastern.

Our Huntington Avenue campus and buildings as conceived in 1934 are rapidly becoming a reality, and will form a complete unit when the new Classroom-Laboratory Building is occupied in the fall of 1956. Our programs have been enriched and refined, even in the five years since you entered college. Northeastern continues to gain stature in the community and in the nation.

We have every reason to look forward to greater growth in physical assets, in educational prestige, in service to the young people who will enter its doors in the years to come.

I have always liked the tone of the editorial which appeared in the Northeastern News in May of your freshman year. It closed with the words:

"We are students of a young school, one that is still growing. Here at N. U. we operate in the present with an eye to the future, not on tradition alone."

This is your University. May you, the members of the Class of 1956, continue to gain in knowledge and skill after you leave Northeastern, and may the future be filled with hope and promise and challenge for each one of you.

Era of a Miracle

WHEN the Class of 1956 mingled together for the first time on that sunny Wednesday morning in September 1951, there was a wall of corrugated metal surrounding a huge structure of steel girders and concrete. Ever since then, construction workers have mingled with students in the morning rush, the coffee break in the Commons, lunch counters around the Huntington Avenue area, and then back again into the evening rush hour traffic.

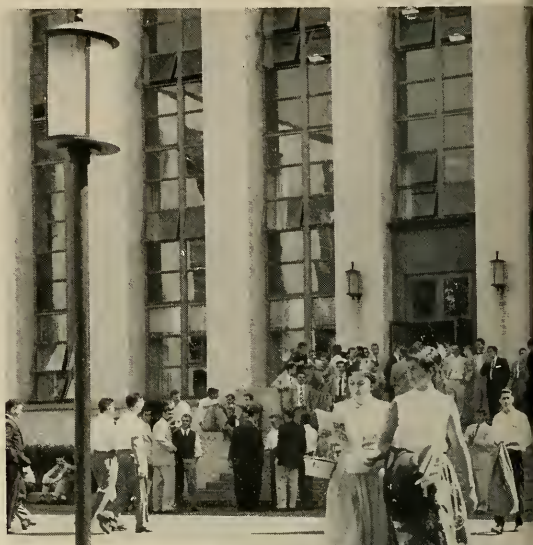

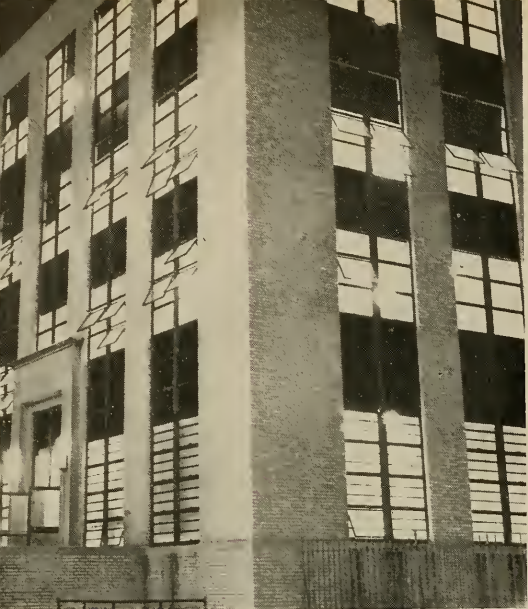

Only during brief respites has the University been without building activity. During the life span of the class of 1956, no less than three new buildings have been erected. This achievement of growth is more than just a record; it's closer to a miracle.

Entering as boys and girls just five years ago, we now prepare to graduate as men and women. This maturity is true not only of our class but of the University which we leave behind. As we were young in 1951 so was the University. Its sudden surge of growth kept pace with the rapid growth of mental capacity which typifies the transition from freshman to senior.

As we entered, a new building was being completed. As we say our farewells, another building is being completed. But this building is a little different from the others. For this building, and much of the University, existed only on paper when we were frosh. With this building, these designs have found their fruition. In the five years of life of our class, we have witnessed a miracle; we have lived in the era of a miracle.

With this thought in mind, the editors of the 1956 CAULDRON have centered the theme of this year's book around the miracle which we have all witnessed: the growth of our class and our University.

As you turn the next hundred or so pages, we hope you will find words and pictures that will in the future years bring back the memories of pleasant associations and good times.

Class History

FRESHMAN YEAR

September 1951 brought 860 members of the Class of 1956 to the Huntington Avenue Campus. The upper stories of the Library Building were still in the process of being enclosed with the traditional white brick that characterizes all the buildings on the main quadrangle.

But, there was another important newcomer to the University among the eager frosh. The R.O.T.C. invaded the Greenleaf Building with five officers and seven enlisted men. Under the command of Colonel Howard E. Price, 600 were enrolled in the first military courses.

The frosh were treated to their first collegiate football rally as a warm up for the A.I.C. game. The now yellowing and muscy pages of the Northeastern News report the following headlines during the remainder of the year: Speed Skater, Al Broadhurst, Becomes First Husky Representative to Olympics . . . N.U. Upsets A.I.C. 27-20 . . . "N.U. Students in Demand,"—Nightingale . . . Draft Deferment Test Forms Due . . . Kiss Me Kate Stars Visit Masque . . . PFC Joins R.O.T.C. Staff . . . SOPHOMORE YEAR

Every September, the "big story" is always the arrival of the new frosh, the Class of 1957. Space in the Parking lots and Commons starts to diminish as 1075 of them swarm through the hallowed halls.

During the Summer, King Husky II announced his plans to abdicate, so, one of the first things on the docket was a huge coronation ceremony for King Husky III. A thousand students watched while the new monarch was escorted by his honor guard, the newly chartered Pershing Rifles.

About this time, University Vice-president Churchill announced he would retire at the end of the year. A tireless worker for N.U., he supervised the building program. His successor was announced to be Dr. William C. White.

MIDDLER YEAR

The end of another Division A five week summer term bring a new class into the N.U. family. With this class, the Neus had to blow the dust from an old headline—returning veterans entering in droves. This year they were Korean War veterans and there were 300 of them in the 1400 who registered in the Class of 1958.

Professor Roy Woolridge was appointed director of the Department of Co-operative Work replacing Prof. Winthrop Nightingale who died the preceding year. The engineers got a new dean for a year as Prof. Ferretti replaced Dean William Alexander, who was granted a year's leave of absence to do research at duPont.

The Library was doing a land office business as was the newly enlarged Bookstore. The football team readied itself to meet U.R.I. as the season's curtain raiser. In

JUNIOR YEAR

The year got off to a fast start as plans were underway to open the football season with Rhode Island. Still smarting from previous contests with Rhody, a small band of N.U. hopefuls decided to avenge their team. The next day, Rhody's mascot, a ram, was reported miss-student into the soldier.

ing. A little investigation disclosed SPA as the ram-nappers. University officials hastily returned the animal to his South of Boston home. The next night, the same ram turned up on the back of PBA's float at the rally.

Rhody avenged themselves, though. They won the game, 13-7. Meanwhile the new gym was opened. Other historical landmarks during the year were:

SENIOR YEAR

Along with the new frosh, September brings football to N.U. During the last few seasons, the kick-off game has been against the University of Rhode Island. Since stealing their mascot didn't seem to help the Husky Eleven, all hands turned out at the first rally of the season to help yell the team on to victory.

Apparently, we were a few yells short as the Rams squeaked out a 13-13 tie. Then, just as the dust started to fade away on the game, news slowly emerged from the activities office that N.U. mascot, King Husky III, had died—the previous June.

A wave of protest followed the announcement. Not that they were protesting that the dog died, but they were irred by the delay in the announcement. Before University officials declared the tardy announcement was "a bobble," four editors of the Northeastern News resigned and a wave of almost humorous rumors flew wildly around the campus.

Soon though, word was back from the gang from '55 who had been to R.O.T.C. summer camp during the preceding months. Talk of inhuman torture soon overcame talk of anti-vivesection.

The new building was sprouting steel overnight. Steamshovels had carved away the faculty parking lot during the summer and the superstructure was in the process of being bolted together, or so it looked. The Husky Key announced plans to elect a Mayor of Huntington Avenue out of the student body. With many of the University's characters in the running, it was a colorful. campaign. But a relatively unknown name coupled with a staple commodity proved to be too much for the competition. "More Baloney with Moloney" swept "Honest Pete" into office with a comfortable plurality.

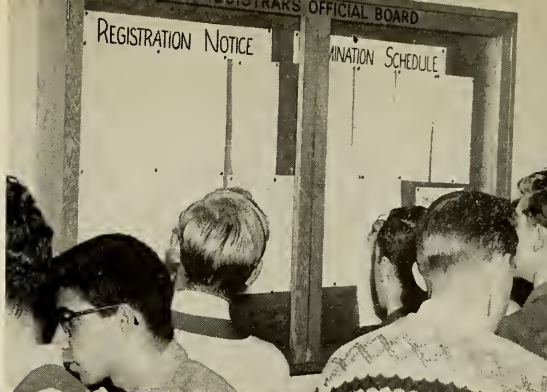

As the year wore on, the following events were duly recorded and inscribed into the infallible memory of our next door neighbor, the News:

The Cauldron

With the traditional battlecry, "This year's book will be the best yet!", the 1956 Cauldron staff invaded its third floor hide-away in the Student Center Building.

Plans were made for delivery of the completed book on June 1, in plenty of time for Commencement Week. Deadlines were established with the firm resolution — this year we're going to keep every one of them.

Division A seniors began to get herded to Vantine Studios for that photogenic look. Division B got ahead of the game by stuffing the ever-popular data sheets into the registration envelopes. Then the herding process began again.

Senior picture editors Cora Anderson and Inez Shapiro kept the Board posted on the lengthy list of seniors who had not been photographed or had not turned in a data sheet or, as was more usually the case, both.

Thanks to much plugging from the tenants next door in their weekly journal, the list began to shrink as did the remaining time before the first deadline.

"Some time in October, I think."

Along around Christmas vacation, while all good students were out "living it up," the co-editors-in-chief, Jack Carp and Myron Reimer, held a conference of war with the chief of the Warren Press Tribe, Emil Bazy.

When the scheming editors informed Mr. B. that the Cauldron was going to break into full four-color reproduction for its title page, the poor man fainted dead away. When he was revived, he informed the editors that it couldn't be done within the limitations of the budget.

So, eight pages were trimmed out of the book to make both ends meet. The deadline schedule was revised to allow Division A students another two weeks to get down to Vantine's. This pushed delivery date to June 14, in plenty of time for graduation (3 or 4 hours.)

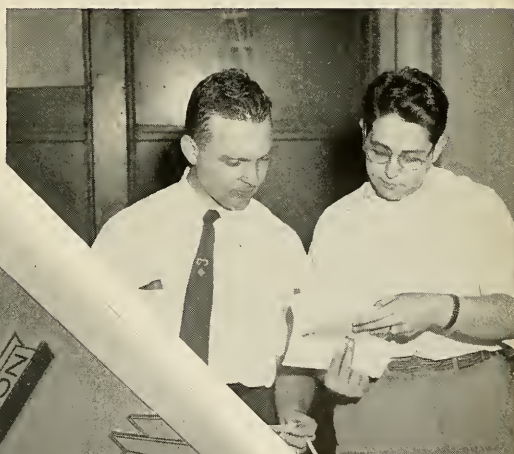

Then it happened. The business manager rendered his report and we began filing bankruptcy papers. Seemingly unperturbed, faculty adviser, Prof. Everett Marston, suggested such a thing could easily lead to a lynching or two. (It's a mystery how this man has been able to last all these years as adviser to a bunch like this.)

Another council of war was held and the Board voted to print the book in the summer. This took off the pressure, and balanced the budget (for a while). Fourteen extra pages were tacked on. The book would be ready for delivery on October 5, in plenty of time for Christmas.

Well, now the book is done and the entire staff can get together over a bottle of engraver's acid and revel over the miracle.

Cora Anderson types the data cards while photo editors Hurney and Salamy select finished prints and Sylvia Basquin searches for typos.

NEWS BOARD

The News

Filled with vim, vigor, and brewer's yeast, the Division A crowd of the Northeastern News started off the new academic year by electing the "option play." They chose to publish two special editions: the freshman issue during the five week summer term and a four page football issue during the first week of the fall term. This was in accordance with a long standing tradition of one year.

One of the hundreds of conferences that go into the weekly newspaper.

But tradition went out the window during the next few weeks as most of the upper board resigned over the handling of the story concerning the death of canine mascot, King Husky III.

With the annual elections only a few Division A editions away, the publication limped along with the editors it had left.

The story was somewhat different when Division B returned to school in November. They were able to carry on without a limp since their supply of editors was still full to capacity. But, fully staffed or not, both Divisions managed to publish a newspaper which most felt was just a little better than those of a year past, which were supposed to be the "top."

After the new board was elected in February for the 1956-57 academic year, the News published a first — Three Feature supplement issues during the February term. The last supplement startled everyone (including the editors) with a double-page splash of light blue ink overprinted on the usual black type. Shaped like palm trees, the blue ink heralded the opening of "South Pacific" in the Alumni Auditorium and the Nor'east blizzard season on Huntington Ave.

Since the News receives its awards and applause every Friday morning when the paper hits the quad, the staff devotes part of its time singling out and applauding other students not connected with the paper.

During each term, the sports staff awards the News' Most Improved Player award to the MIP in each major sport. At the end of the year, the publication chooses the athlete of the year.

Not to be undone by the Sports Department, the rest of the paper gets together to award five "Eugenes" to outstanding performers on the Silver Masque's stage.

The confidence which the student body has in the News was illustrated when an April fool story appeared on page one of the March 30 edition reporting how Boroloph Building had been condemned. A large majority of the readers was taken in and has been patiently waiting for the demolition teams to start blasting ever since.

The rigorous and demanding schedule that the News places on its staffers paid off in April of this year when the results of the Associated Collegiate Press Association's judging were published. The News won top honors (again) in the weekly tabloid classification in competition with weeklies from virtually all the universities in the country.

Things like this make the midnight hours in News office worth while. The Thursday night sojourns to East Boston to put the paper into type become more rewarding when other people besides just the staff and Professor Marston think the News is the best. Much help and guidance which makes the News the award winner that it is comes from the highly skilled trio of Tarbi brothers (Sal, Frank, and Charlie) who run the Neighborhood Publishing Corporation. They like to be considered more than just the paper's printers—and indeed they are!

Silver Masque

Northeastern's amateur drama club scored a two-fold success with the season's opener, Eugene O'Neil's "Ah, Wilderness!"

First success was scored on stage as the actors reached the closest towards the perfection which they seek. Settings for all Masque shows in the recent past have long since passed the amateur level.

Second success was scored at the box office with the second biggest crowd in Masque history, second only to last year's musical, "Paint Your Wagon."

Masquers then piled success on success with Arthur Miller's moving drama, "All My Sons." The highly emotional scenes were capably handled by Bill Hall who played the father, and Joe Gallison, who played the son. Joe and Hilda Abrevaya won "Eugenes" for their roles in this show.

The biggest production of the season took place in Alumni Auditorium on March 23 & 24 as Rogers and Hammerstein's "South Pacific" hit the Huntington Ave. area. Completely sold out both nights, the second night's crowd had to brave a blizzard to see the show.

This wasn't the only blizzard to hamper the cast. A paralyzing Nor'easter hit a week and a day earlier stranding the cast overnight at the University after an evening rehearsal. Another blizzard only four days later cancelled classes. So while the rest of the school enjoyed a day off, the Masquers braved the elements to spend the day rehearsing.

PROF. EUGENE J. BLACKMAN

Leading the cast were Liz Dougherty as Nellie Forbush, Don Shea as Emile DeBecque, Pat Roche as Lt. Cable, Gale Beverly as Bloody Mary, and Bill Hall as Luther Billis.

Bill won a Eugene for his portrayal of seebee promoter-hula dancer, Luther Billis.

Mystery fans were treated to one of the best as the Masque closed its best season to date with "Dial M for Murder."

Much of the credit for the rapid growth and success of the Masque in recent years goes to Prof. Eugene J. Blackman, faculty adviser and director, whose friendly personality has put new life into what was once just a mediocre amateur college group. The five annual awards made to the Masque by the Northeastern News bear his first name as a reminder to those who come later of the man who made the Masque a success.

Another of the always creditable Masque sets was this house exterior used in "All My Sons". The props in the foreground are Joe Gallison, Minda Feltman, Hilda Abrevaya (seated) and John Connelly.

Two of the Masque's greatest, Bill Hall and Pat Roche, share the stage in this scene from "Ah, Wilderness!" the season's opening production.

Masque newcomer, Lew Werlin, gets the old scissors in the back while trying to strangle Hilda Abrevaya in "Dial M for Murder," the season's final show.

Sailors and Marines get the business from Bloody Mary in the hit musical, "South Pacific," the third production of the year.

Student Union

Seated: Nahum, Dawson, Holohan, Hermes, Prof. Skiffington, (adviser), McCabe, Ryan, Utudjian, Greene, Bacon, Gay. SU's adopted mother, Mrs. Ethel B. Chartier.

A pyramid of SU members at one of the fall outings.

Service is the key word of the Student Union's motto. Its service extends to the entire university family and to the community outside as well.

Within the University, the Union maintains both the Edwards and Mitton Lounges for students and keeps them well stocked with latest copies of all the popular magazines.

The Chapel Committee is charged with running the weekly non-sectarian services in the beautiful Bacon Memorial Chapel.

Teas and get-together dances are held several times during the year at which the University's foreign students are honored. During the fall and spring, the membership holds several outings and parties.

Of benefit to the community is the annual blood drive, the Christmas party for settlement house children, and the fund raising dances to buy Christmas gifts for needy patients of Boston hospitals. Many other social service projects are undertaken by the members.

SU members enjoy the home-away-from-home atmosphere of the Union office provided by SU's mother, Mrs. Ethel Chartier, who spends as much time looking after her adopted SU family as she does looking after her own fine family.

Prof. Lloyd Skiffington must endure a great deal as adviser to this spirited group but the greatest hardship is imposed on him at Christmas time when the loudspeakers of the PA system are beamed onto the quad from his office windows allowing the icy winter blasts to enter while Christmas music flows into the Huntington Avenue locale.

Husky Key

Seated: Prof. Herman (adviser),
Derosier, Storella, Sandrelli. Standing: DiRupo, Foley, Tullar, Roberge, Carp.

Spirit and enthusiasm are the product of the Husky Key; having a good time is its by-product. Entrusted with the chore of raising some school spirit in a predominantly commuter's college, the Key hammers diligently away year after year and is finally showing definite signs of success.

The Key is the first activity to get rolling in the fall by organizing and producing the annual freshman night show. The following week, the Key runs the pre-opening game football rally at N.U. Field and then holds a dance after a motorcade back to N.U. Additional rallies and dances are scheduled during the football season.

Highlight of the year was the mayoralty campaign which ended with a ballot box stuffing election for the Mayor of Huntington Avenue. Ballots were sold and a voter could buy as many as he could afford.

Victorious candidate, Pete Maloney, beat out the better known university characters with his slogan "More Baloney with Moloney." Pete had the backing of the New England Provision Co.

Receipts from the mayoralty election and the sale of tickets to the Inauguration Ball netted several hundred dollars to the Classroom-Laboratory Building Fund.

The Key is a unique activity since it has no counterpart in Division B and restricts its activities to the fall semester almost entirely.

The end of the fall term is marked by the Key sponsored and run Fall Sports Dance which is second only to the Military Ball in size. Shortly after the dance, the Key holds its annual banquet and makes plans for the spring term. But the Spring term being what it is, finds spring fever just a little too much to combat.

Mayoralty candidate Bill Hall tries to steal the spotlight from candidate Russ Laste.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Student Council

Acting as the liaison between the University administration and the student body, the Student Council has performed the part of mediator in several disputes this year. Proving their right to legislate for student activities and class governments alike, the Council patched up differences in several cases this year.

The Council has been drafting a new constitution which, after a year's work, is ready for adoption.

The Council holds joint meetings regularly to establish policies concerning both divisions of the University's Day Colleges.

The Senior Class Cabinet is composed of an elected delegate from each section of each of the colleges plus the five elected class officers. The cabinet meets once each week to conduct the business of the elder class of the University.

The biggest item on the class agenda is the plans for that final week in school—commencement week. In order to pay the costs for the week, the cabinet lays plans to snare the delinquent dues paying members of the class.

The cabinet has also turned out to aid the Cauldron whenever aid was requested.

COMMENCEMENT WEEK COMMITTEE

Commencement Week Committee

The most important class committee of all is the Commencement Week Committee which is entrusted with the job of selecting the program of events for that all-important finale to collegiate days.

Wading through a list of suggested places to go and things to do, the committee finally chose a class outing, banquet, moonlight cruise, beach party, and of course, the Senior Prom. There was time allotted for section days and the final day was reserved for a get-together in the Boston Garden.

Omega Sigma Cabinet

Omega Sigma's purpose is to further the interests of Northeastern's women students, to foster friendship among the girls and to be of service to the University.

The yearly activities include pre-freshman teas, coke parties, a Career Confab, and a Mother-Daughter tea. This year, O.S. again sponsored a dance at a downtown hotel which was well attended. Annual awards are given to junior and senior girls.

OMEGA SIGMA CABINET

Seated: Brown, Slemmer, Giggey, Dougherty, Butterworth, Mattson, Holmstrom, Wikstrom. Standing: Hay, DiMilla, Meuse, Greene, Gogan, Warner, Abrevaya, Jones, DeLuca.

CHEERLEADERS

Chris Hay, Sue Derosier, Bob Storrella, Noreen Connors, Judy LeBlanc.

Cheerleaders

The spirit and fight of the Husky athletes is bolstered by our squad of energetic and talented cheerleaders who represent the paramount qualities which are ever present on the N.U. scene. The encouragement which they give often makes the difference between a glorious victory or a discouraging defeat.

Pep, talent, and cheering ability that show the result of long hours of practice are exemplified in every member of this group which is under the supervision of Miss Dorothy G. Reuter, women's gym instructor.

Husky Highlighters

The noonday voices in the Commons belong to the members of the Husky Highlighters' broadcasting staff. Relaying the University's news items four days a week, the group spends its day off planning the schedule for the subsequent week and criticizing the shows of the past week.

During the August summer term, an experimental broadcast was designed to blend with the informality of the warmer weather.

Dean of Students, Harold W. Melvin, originated the broadcasting idea nearly ten years ago and has remained the adviser to the group since its inception.

HUSKY HIGHLIGHTERS

Seated: Gogan, Wikstrom, Kirk, Hughes, Carp, Derosier, Brown, Dirago. Standing: Connors, Illingworth, Gallison, Beaton, Kates, Hall, Mattson.

CHAPEL CHOIR

Seated: Nahum, Krosschell, Mosse, Hermes, Utudjian, Thompson, Gay, Brown, Blanchard. Standing: Prof. Cleveland (adviser), Boucher, Conrad, Dodge, Cerniglia, Hart, Greene, Warner.

Chapel Choir

In 1946, the Bacon Memorial Chapel found a home on the second floor of the newly completed Student Center Building. Shortly thereafter, the Chapel Choir was formed to assist Dean Charles W. Havice, Dean of Chapel, who presides over the weekly meetings.

In keeping with the non-sectarian character of the chapel services, the Choir represents the several denominations and faiths of Northeastern students. Under the direction of Professor Lawrence F. Cleveland, organist, the Choir prepares the anthems and provides the choral responses for each Chapel service.

Choral Society

Soldiers! Sailors! Seabees! Navy Nurses! Hawaiian girls! You name it. The Choral Society can furnish them, with voices, too. This was proven when the Silver Masque produced South Pacific recently.

Under the untiring efforts of Professor M. Tucker Keiser, this versatile group furnishes a veritable tour-de-force wherever it performs.

The Choral Society's frequent performances at Convocations, in addition to numerous off-campus appearances, are high points of N.U.'s cultural life.

CHORAL SOCIETY

ALPHA PSI OMEGA
Seated: Dougherty, Prof.
Blackman (adviser), Slem-
mer. Standing: Glass, Hall.

Alpha Psi Omega

Now in its second year at N.U., Alpha Psi Omega, the National Collegiate Honorary Dramatic Society, continues to recognize meritorious participation in college dramatics by awarding membership in the Nu Chi chapter to worthy members of the Silver Masque.

An invitation to join Alpha Psi Omega is the goal of every member of the Masque, as, under the spirited direction of Professor Eugene J. Blackman, they strive for perfection in the theatre.

Camera Club

"Shutter-bugs" at Northeastern have their own home in the Camera Club complete with darkroom. Activities of the year begin with sessions for members with no previous experience at photography.

Someone once said that "a picture is worth a thousand words," and these lensmen are only too willing to bear this out by furnishing the News and Cauldron with shots which help enliven both these publications.

Interesting sights can always be found on campus or at the nearby Fenway to keep these camera-conscious students busy.

CAMERA CLUB
Seated: Stewart, Prof.
Barrs (adviser), Salamy.
Standing: Giberson, Hurney, Stratoti.

PSYCHOLOGY SOCIETY

Seated: Jones, Bacon,
Sandrelli, Utudjian.
Standing: Lake, Malkof-sky, Sacks, Holohan, Garland.

Psychology Society

Returning to the N.U. campus after an absence of several years, the new Psychology Society has been formed around a nucleus of avid and enthusiastic budding psychologists.

Meeting once a week, the group generally schedules a movie on one of the many phases of psychology. A discussion period is then held with Dr. A. B. Warren, Chairman of the Psychology Department and adviser to the group ready to assist in answering the questions that arise.

Folk & Square Dance Club

From its initial appearance at the Freshman Night Show, this active student group adds an international flavor to life at N.U.

The Square and Folk Dance Society can always be sure of an audience whether it is giving an exhibition or merely practicing in the Student Center Building.

The dance enthusiasts are given ample opportunity to display their talents at hospital and community houses as well as at public dances in and around greater Boston.

FOLK AND SQUARE DANCE CLUB

Seated: Brown, Gay, Glebus, Blanchard, Dawson.
Standing: Boucher, Wilkins, Miss Reuter (adviser), Banks, Thompson.

DEBATING SOCIETY
Seated: Wiljanen, MacMunn, Lofche, Prof. Khiralla (adviser). Standing: Coakley, MacCallum.

Debating Society

Name any topic of local, national or international interest, and the N.U. Debating Society has discussed it at length at one of its functions. The group's meetings may take the form of a forum, panel, or round-table discussion.

The society is open to all university students who possess a strong voice and an unabridged dictionary. Enthusiasts are guaranteed lots of activity.

Among the many exciting events of the society is an annual debate with United States Military Academy.

International Relations Club

In this Atomic Age, issues of international importance cannot be stressed too highly, and toward this end the International Relations Club at Northeastern turns its efforts. Foreign and local political and scholarly figures, plus regular student debates and discussions, are featured at meetings.

The N.U. Chapter is affiliated with I.R.C. groups in other colleges and is part of the American Association for the United Nations.

Faculty adviser is Professor Robert G. Wilfong of the History-Government Department.

Radio Club

"This is W1KBN" is the familiar call of these Northeastern "hams," who are not overlooked in the activities available to students at the University. The Radio Club has several transmitters in the penthouse atop Richards Hall, and is anxiously looking forward to the completion of the new Classroom-Laboratory Building where the group will have its new quarters.

Code and theory instructions are provided for those who wish to obtain amateur radio operator's licenses. Members carry on contact with amateur operators all over the United States and Europe.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

Seated: Jedruch, Prof. Wilfong (adviser), Lloyd. Standing: Legere, Killoran.

RADIO CLUB

Seated: Cleverley, Watson, Prof. Baird (adviser). Standing: Sterti, Doyle, Menard.

RIFLE CLUB

Seated: Zieba, Hohmann, Cronan, Hagerty, Flemming, French, Jones. Standing: Lt-Col. Parkin (adviser), Capt. Burk (adviser), Lanzillotti, Beatty, Seligman, Provasi, Diamond, Dobrzelecki, Sgt. Wigley (adviser).

Rifle Club

With the completion of the Physical Education Center and the rifle range inside, the N.U. Rifle Club has blossomed into one of the largest and most active groups on campus.

Rarely, if ever, can you pass the rifle range without hearing those familiar sounds made popular by TV's western movies.

The club provides the material that eventually grows into the N.U. Rifle and R.O.T.C. Rifle Teams. Those who don't qualify for team positions shoot for the fun and relaxation which the sport provides.

Girls' Rifle Club

In its second and very successful year, the co-ed sharpshooters have proved that they are every bit as good as their male counterparts.

Originally scoffed at by some of the male club members, the girls' team can now outshoot almost every one of its original critics.

Besides, the annual spring banquet of the combined rifle clubs would really be quite dull without the planning of les femmes.

GIRLS' RIFLE CLUB

Seated: Watson, Wise, Holmstrom, Hagerty. Standing: Sgt. Wigley (adviser).

Engineering Council — N.U.

Professional Societies

Among the activities of which Northeastern can be proud, are the eleven Professional and one Engineering Co-ordinating Societies. Every branch of the Engineering and Business Colleges is represented on campus by a student chapter of its respective professional organization.

Chapters of the American Marketing Association, Society for the Advancement of Management, Accounting Society, American Finance Association, and the Advertising Club represent means for the business students to further their professional development by studying practical problems and listening to industrial leaders discuss the problems facing their respective fields.

For the Engineers, chapters of the Civil Engineering Society, American Chemical Society, American Institute of Chemical Engineers, American Institute of Mechanical Engineers, American Institute of Industrial Engineers, American Institute of Electrical Engineers, and Institute of Radio Engineers are provided for the same purpose.

In addition to these civilian groups, the R.O.T.C. has sponsored a chapter of the Society of American Military Engineers, which embraces the entire engineering profession.

Representatives of all the various engineering societies meet regularly to co-ordinate the activities of their various groups. This co-ordinating body, the Engineering Council of Northeastern University, has proved to be very successful despite the fact it is only two years old.

While all professional societies strive for the same common goal, each has its own specific objective in mind.

The Advertising Club provides its members with an opportunity to become acquainted with actual mechanical problems involved in the advertising field. This is accomplished through field trips, films, guests from industry, and the new club service of publicizing and promoting all-University events.

The American Finance Association chapter specializes in the fields of investments and insurance. Films and guests provide the first hand information.

The American Marketing Association chapter aims to promote a wider interest in the numerous areas of the general marketing profession.

The Accounting Society familiarizes students with practical problems and new methods found in industry. This helps co-ordinate academic training with the most recent developments in the profession.

The Society for the Advancement of Management brings its members many practical problems that have been or are being solved by present-day management.

One of the largest groups at Northeastern is the Civil Engineering Society. Now publishing its own Newsletter, the society is one of the most active on campus.

Similarly, problems and developments of specific interest to the other engineering curricula as well as Chemistry are discussed and illustrated at meetings of the respective societies.

Seated: Petrie, Meade, Healy, Avellan, Duratti, Lees, Slavin, Lanes. Standing: Gianatassio, Denholm, Kates, Tullar, Van Steenberger, Liston, MacQuarrie, Potter, Hendricks.

Honor Societies

The most coveted of all groups at Northeastern are the Honor Societies. Rewarding those students who have shown superior academic progress through their college careers, Northeastern's five honor societies provide the proper recognition for these honor students.

Three honor societies induct members from the College of Engineering while the remaining two groups cater to the College of Liberal Arts and College of Business Administration.

Tau Beta Pi, general engineering honor society, initiates members twice yearly at banquet meetings.

Pi Tau Sigma, Mechanical Engineering Honor Society, admits outstanding Junior and Senior Mechanical Engineering students. To create interest and incentive, the society sponsors several projects during the year.

Eta Kappa Nu, Electrical Engineering Honor Society, admits outstanding Junior and Senior Electrical Engineering students. Chartered since 1950, this group can boast of some of the finest electrical engineering talent in the country.

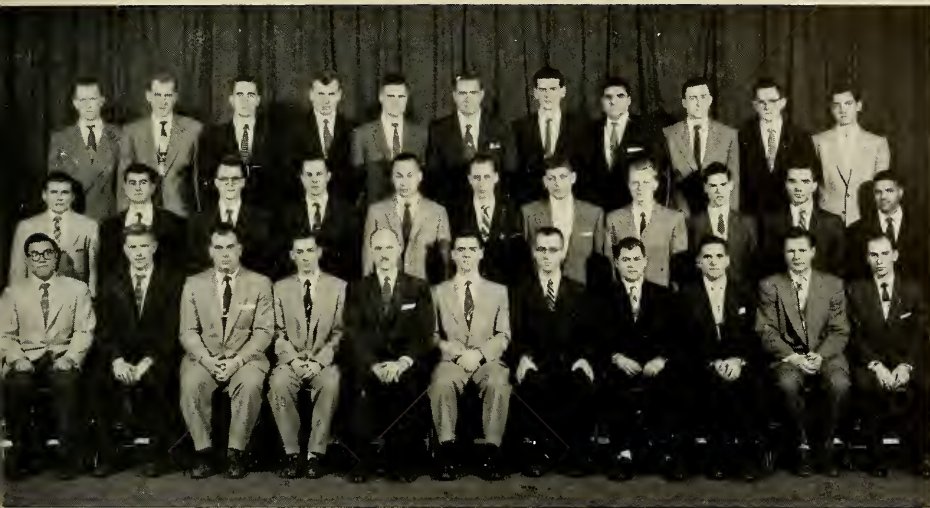

The Academy consists of Liberal Arts students who are in the upper ten percent of their class. Initiations are held twice yearly. A scholarship is awarded annually, to the top ranking Liberal Arts freshman.

The Sigma Society of the College of Business Administration recognizes high academic standing, character, and professional promise. It promotes the educational interest of business students. The Sigmas also award an annual scholarship to the top ranking business freshman.

R. O. T. C.

The R.O.T.C. program started in September of 1951 and has developed since that time into one of the more outstanding units in the entire country. With over 1700 students in the Signal Corps and Engineers units, it comprises the largest detachment in New England.

Colonel Murray D. Harris succeeded Colonel Howard Price as Commanding Officer in 1954 when Col. Price was assigned to European duty.

With the coming of R.O.T.C., many new activities came with it. The drill team, rifle teams, and the civilian band turned military which will in the near future include 120 men, and student chapters of the Armed Forces Communications and Electronics Association, American Society of Military Engineers, and the newest unit, the Scabbard and Blade Society were installed.

Every year, two of the outstanding R.O.T.C. cadets are invited to the United States Military Academy at West Point for a period of a week. During this time, the students live exactly as the cadets do, attending classes, observing rules and regulations.

There is an annual regimental drill where awards are given to those students who are outstanding on the drill field, academically, and on an all-round basis.

The major social event of the year is the annual Military Ball sponsored by the Scabbard and Blade. Held in February at Boston's newly remodeled Sherry Biltmore Hotel, the record crowd nearly overflowed the facilities.

Top honors in their regiment were copped by NU's Pershing Riflemen. Named by their regimental Headquarters as the Outstanding Company for the year, the P/R's maintain the largest Company in the Twelfth Regiment.

This year members of NU's student chapter of the Armed Forces Communications and Electronics Association were able to show off their wares as the parent National Society held its annual convention in Boston.

The group's display, including a 20-minute sound movie produced by three members of the chapter, was approvingly viewed by Army Chief Signal Officer, Major General James O'Connell.

Fraternities

The benefits of belonging to a fraternity are invaluable. On the social side, dances, parties, and smokers provide memories of the lighter side of college life which will remain longer than most of the formal education. The ties of friendship and brotherhood formed through membership in a fraternity are priceless.

The Interfraternity Council is the governing body which co-ordinates all the fraternities at Northeastern. The Council, composed of one member from each fraternity in each division, plans interfraternity sports programs, the IFC Dance, and the annual pre-Christmas party for the benefit of needy children at Boston City Hospital.

Alpha Kappa Sigma fraternity is located in a spacious southern styled mansion in Jamaica Plain. Like all fraternities at N.U., AKS is active in sports, with basketball and bowling being the most popular.

Beta Gamma Epsilon, the oldest fraternity at Northeastern, is housed within walking distance of the school. All members of BGE are Engineering students.

Kappa Zeta Phi, one of the four houseless fraternities at Northeastern, annually holds a dance, the proceeds from which go to the Marvin Guttin Scholarship Award fund. This award is presented to the most deserving undergraduate brother on the basis of scholarship, fraternity activities, school activities and general fraternalism.

Always active in fraternity sports, members and pledges of Gamma Phi Kappa are kept in condition by painting and redecorating their house, a sprawling mansion conveniently located on Greenough Street, Brookline.

Nu Epsilon Zeta members who are winter sports minded will have no trouble being kept busy during their favorite time of the year. Active in IFC sports, NEZ is especially keen on skiing and several ski weekends are held during the winter months.

Phi Gamma Pi, the closest house to N.U.'s football field in Brookline, has the chore of erecting all sorts of floats and statues prior to all home games. Nearly all who attend the games on Kent Street are amused by PGP's artistic and sadistic talents—all that is, except members of the visiting delegations.

Phi Beta Alpha, long associated with the News, Cauldron and Silver Masque, won fame this year by not winning the Fraternity Scholastic Shield. Up to this year, PBA scholars had copped the plaque every year since it was offered.

The brothers still adhere to the practice of not restricting membership because of race, religion, or course of study.

Sigma Phi Alpha, another of the homeless fraternities, has long rivaled PBA as the most active fraternity on campus. Again this year, SPA's football team beat PBA in the Annual Hangover Bowl Game held on January first. SPA, also, does not restrict membership because of race, religion, or course of study.

Another commuters fraternity, Sigma Kappa Psi, annually honors one of its former brothers. Since 1945, the SKP boys have awarded the Richard M. Horowitz Scholarship to one of its present brothers who is outstanding in initiative, leadership, and scholarship. The fraternity holds a dance annually to raise the money for the Award.

Football

By JACK DRISCOLL

PRIOR to the 1955 football season Coach Joe Zabalski predicted Northeastern would win only one game, and that victory would be an upset. Most close observers agreed, though some were hesitant to even allow for the upset.

The season proved unpredictable. Northeastern won four games, tied one and lost one. The depth-less, inexperienced Huskies turned out to be one of New England's most-feared small college elevens and were on the way to an undefeated season before being dumped in the next-to-last game by the University of Massachusetts.

The rain-marred season ended on a damp note—not tears. The finale at Northeastern Field against the University of Connecticut had to be cancelled because of a "lake", three feet deep in spots, which covered a major portion of the field.

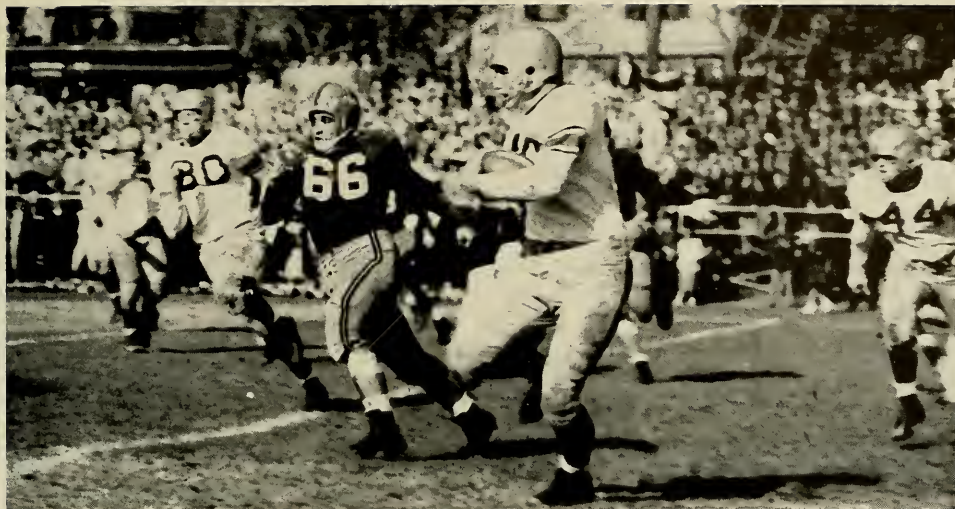

The backfield was cleaned out by the previous year's graduation, and only three linemen returned from the 1954 starting team. Good reason for pessimism?

Then too, the loss of starters Tom Hourihan and Dick Carter early in the season did anything but raise hopes. Hourihan, a star end for two years, injured his knee and was able to play in only two games. Carter, a four-sport athlete and speedster cum laude, was forced to give up football because of sickness.

Several Huskies were honored on post-season all-star teams. High honors went to Captain and tackle Gene Renzi, fullback Phil Bucalo and sophomore center Bob Lyons, who were given honorable mentions on the Little All-American team.

Offensive leader for Northeastern was Phil Bucalo, who each week was among the nation's leaders in scoring and rushing. He probably would have led the country's small college backs in rushing in the final analysis had N.U. played as many games as other colleges.

Bucalo scored 10 touchdowns and three extra points for 63 points. He gained 687 yards in 152 carries for an average of 4.5 yards per carry. Most of the yardage gained by the 205-pound Albany, N.Y. native was on short plunges, often necessary fourth down yardage, which he usually managed to get.

And we're off and running.

Bucalo carried the brunt of the load in the backfield but picked up needed help from two sophomores, Tom Clark and Bob Girouard. Clark, a halfback, tallied three touchdowns and averaged 5.9 yards per carry.

A substitute halfback on the freshman team, Girouard stepped in at quarterback the second game of the season and did a veteran-like job of signal-calling and ball-handling. He was presented the Most Improved Player award by the NEWS.

Despite poor passing conditions, due to rain nearly every Saturday, Girouard completed 14 of 31 passes for two touchdowns and 257 yards. Only one pass was intercepted, and that one was partially blocked.

Gene Renzi spearheaded the line, called by Zabitski, "as good a line as I have ever had while coaching at Northeastern." Renzi was also credited for keeping the team at such a high spirit pitch throughout the Fall.

Along with Renzi, the only senior linemen were two of New England's best — guard Fred Medugno and end Tom Hourihan. Line coach Ecio Luciano was proud of the showing of three sophomore starters—center Bob Lyons, tackle Frank Krypel and end Bill Young.

In pre-season practice junior Don Johanson was switched from tackle to starting guard by Luciano, a move termed by Zabitski as "the turning point in the success of the team."

In the opening game Northeastern was pitted against the University of Rhode Island, New England's leading small college power. Coach Zabitski started five sophomores, but the Huskies surprised the visiting Rams, 13-13. Rhode Island finished its season undefeated and was selected to play in the Refrigerator Bowl in December.

The first Husky touchdown was the most sensational of the season. In a surprising move, Coach Zabilski inserted halfback Dick Carter in the game at quarterback.

N.U. had the ball on its own five-yard line, and on his first play from scrimmage Carter faded into the end zone and passed to end Tom Hourihan. The lanky Brookline end snared the pass on the 30-yard line, side-stepped two defenders with some fancy footwork on the sidelines at the 35 and outraced the safety man for the touchdown.

Bucalo's quick-thinking gave Northeastern its second and crucial touchdown in the same period. With the ball on Rhode Island's 15-yard line, the hefty full-back started on an off-guard plunge. However, seeing there was no hole, the alert Bucalo swung to the outside and outran two secondary men to score standing up.

Bucalo's touchdown tied the score, 13-13. That's how it stood at halftime, and that's how it stood at the end of the game.

If looks could kill.

With Bucalo plowing and 244-pound tackle Gene Renzi blocking, Northeastern put together a 57-yard third-period drive to top tough Springfield, 7-0, at rain-soaked Northeastern Field in the second game.

Bob Girouard climaxed the 14-play drive by sneaking over from the two-yard line after Bucalo's plunging had spearheaded the march.

The Huskies then went on the road for three games and returned undefeated. Bucalo hit his scoring peak in the first road game, against Bates. And no wonder! The day before his wife, the former Barbara Waters, gave birth to a 7½-pound girl, Paula Jean, at Mass. Memorial Hospital.

Bucalo scored four touchdowns and gained 159 yards as N.U. won, 26-0. Coach Zabitski told his team to dedicate the game to Bucalo's new daughter since the squad had been on edge almost as much as Phil the previous week waiting for the baby's arrival.

At Springfield the next week Northeastern defeated A.I.C., 18-9. Tom Clark scored the first touchdown on a 31-yard pass play from Bob Girouard. Bucalo added the other two on runs of five and 55 yards.

Northeastern's next victory was against Hofstra College in Hempstead, Long Island, N.Y. Bucalo, at the time second in rushing among the nation's small colleges, returned to his native state and spoiled what was left of the Hofstra homecoming as he led a 21-12 victory.

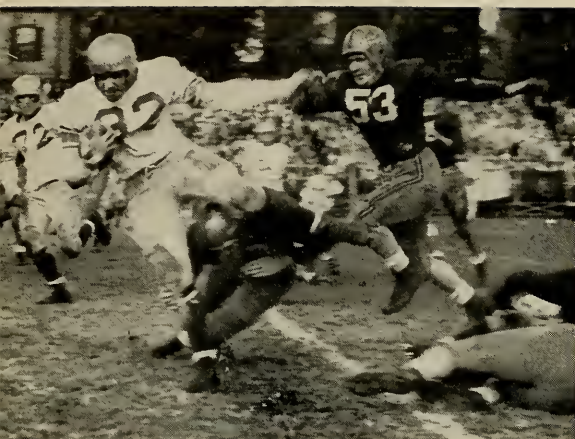

Only 644 fans, about half of them from Northeastern, braved heavy rain and wind as Bucalo scored 13 points and gained 164 yards rushing in 29 carries.

Tom Clark scored the third N.U. touchdown in the final period when he scooted 55 yards through a huge hole off tackle opened by Captain Renzi. Guard Don Johanson accounted for the other two points when he caught halfback Charles Pease in the end zone for a safety on an attempted reverse.

The Huskies finally lost to a fast University of Massachusetts eleven, 33-13, in what proved to be the season's finale. N.U. trailed 14-13, at halftime after touchdowns by Bucalo and Clark. But a Northeastern drive in the third period's early stages was stopped on the UMass nine-yard line, and on the next play Dick Wright ran 91 yards on a delayed trap that broke the game wide open.

Another long drive by N.U. deep into Massachusetts territory ended when the visitors recovered a fumble.

Late in the third period N.U. lost Bucalo and end Tom Hourihan with injuries, and the visiting Redmen capitalized on an interception and another fumble to snap Northeastern's four game skein.

The next Saturday the rains came, and, though both teams were dressed and ready to play, there just wasn't an unsubmerged plot of turf around that was 100 yards long.

ALL-New England forward Richie Cavanaugh provided the scoring punch and goalie Billy Lawn the defensive brilliance as Northeastern University won its last five games, including consecutive upsets over American International, Harvard, and Boston University, to complete the 1955-56 hockey season with a 13-12 record, the Huskies' first winning season since 1952.

The tremendous finish was a fitting conclusion to the homecoming of first-year coach Jimmy Bell, rated by former coach Herb Gallagher as "The greatest hockey player Northeastern ever had." Bell, an all-New England forward from 1948-50, was picked New England's coach of the year by the Boston sportswriters.

Cavanaugh, New England's leading scorer with 57 points, scored 20 points on 13 goals and seven assists in the final five contests to edge Harvard's Bob Cleary for the scoring crown. Lawn, diminutive senior from Allston, brought his college career to a spectacular conclusion, reaching his zenith against Harvard in NU's 4-2 triumph. Lawn was also voted the most improved player in New England by the writers.

Fred Vorderer, a 26-year-old senior right-winger from Roslindale gave Cavanaugh plenty of offensive support, finishing high among New England's top scorers with 45 points. It marked the second straight season that linemates Cavanaugh and Vorderer finished one-two in the Husky scoring parade.

Northeastern began the climatic streak with a successful three-game road trip through New England. Vorderer scored three goals and Cavanaugh two in NU's 7-2 triumph over Colby. Then Cavanaugh scored the hat trick in the Huskies' 5-1 victory at New Hampshire and repeated at Springfield as Northeastern tripped strong A.I.C., 8-6. Defenseman Ray Bell also added a brace of goals against A.I.C.

The torrid Huskies next provided hockey fans with New England's top upset of the year, handing Harvard a 4-2 loss and chilling Crimson hopes of reaching the N.C.A.A. tournament at Colorado.

Harvard had whipped N.U. handily earlier in the season and hopped to a two goal lead in the first period. But the combination of Cavanaugh and Lawn went to work. Richie broke away for the first N.U. goal and assisted on sophomore Mark Wenham's tying tally in the second period. Meanwhile Lawn turned aside 15 Crimson bids, including a breakaway by the highly-touted Cleary.

Dick Andrews, senior defenseman from Roslindale, combined with Wenham and Cavanaugh to notch his only goal of the season and break the tie midway through the third period. Cavanaugh broke away again at the 17-minute mark to clinch the verdict, but Lawn's work was far from over. Harvard applied the pressure throughout the final stanza, forcing the acrobatic N.U. netminder to make 23 saves in his most brilliant performance.

The Huskies completed the season with a 6-5 overtime victory over B.U. on Boston Garden ice. Wenham scored the winning goal after two minutes of sudden-death overtime on a pass from Cavanaugh, who added his third hat trick in the final four games to spark the Northeastern attack.

The Terriers, who had defeated N.U. twice previously, rallied with four goals in the final period to force the game into the overtime session. Defenseman Don Johanson, captain-elect of the football team, and Dick Smith also scored for the winners.

Northeastern reached an early-season peak when, after dropping a pair of opening road games to Yale, 6-2, and Harvard, 8-3, they fashioned a three-game winning string and nearly upset New England's top team, Boston College, in its Garden debut.

Lawn turned in a spectacular performance as Northeastern broke into the winning column with a 3-2 upset over Brown at Providence. Vorderer and Cavanaugh accounted for three early goals, and Lawn blanked the Bruins until late in the final period.

N.U. extended its winning streak to three games with a 6-3 triumph over M.I.T. and a 7-6 overtime victory at Dartmouth. In the Dartmouth tilt, Cavanaugh's fourth goal tied the score with 40 seconds remaining, and sophomore Billy Sears scored the winner after four minutes of sudden-death overtime.

The upset-minded Huskies next gave an exciting demonstration of position play which came within three minutes of paying off in an upset victory over Boston College. However, the Eagles scored a pair of late goals to win, 3-2.

B.C. took an early 1-0 lead, but Dick Johnson retaliated midway through the second stanza. With seven minutes played in the final quarter, senior Dave Bryant took a pass from Johnson and caromed home a goal off a defender's skate. The determined Huskies outplayed the Eagles almost to the final buzzer, but B.C. finally broke through the solid Northeastern defense to tie the score at 17:23 of the final period and record the winner at 18:51.

The Huskies' offense clicked like clockwork in their 9-2 triumph over Hamilton in a tripleheader at the Garden. Wenham, the team's third leading scorer with 30 points, broke out of an early-season slump with two goals to spark the attack.

However, a defensive weakness became evident as N.U. suddenly slumped, suffering an 11-4 setback at the hands of Middlebury, and a 7-4 loss to B.U., both on Boston Garden ice.

A reversal of form found the Huskies matching their previous winning streak by rolling up three consecutive verdicts over Holy Cross and Tufts. Lawn registered his only shutout of the season, and the power line of Cavanaugh, Vorderer, and Sears tallied six goals to pace N.U. to a 12-0 romp over the Crusaders.

Northeastern compiled its highest scoring total of the season in overwhelming Tufts, 13-8, in the Arena Holiday Carnival, and four days later repeated with a 7-4 win over the Jumbos.

The Huskies, victimized by slumps all season, dropped their next three games to R.P.I., Dartmouth, and Brown. The locals were outclassed by R.P.I., 13-2, dropped an overtime verdict to vengeful Dartmouth, 5-4, despite Vorderer's four goals, and were edged by Brown's third-period spurt, 5-3.

Lawn stole the limelight as Northeastern regained its winning ways with a 4-2 victory over Norwich. The veteran goal-tender made 31 saves and was credited with an assist on the Huskies' final goal scored by Cavanaugh. Vorderer, Wenham, and Bob Guerette also scored for the winners.

The Beanpot Tournament proved too much for the Huskies as Boston College swamped them, 7-1, in the opening round, and Boston University romped, 9-3, in the consolation game. An 8-2 loss to Princeton and a 6-2 defeat at Providence extended Northeastern's longest losing streak of the season to four games.

However, the rejuvenated Huskies traveled north to Colby and New Hampshire and then west to Springfield to find success before returning to Boston for their homecoming which provided the best hockey upsets of the season.

Coach Bell is faced with a grim outlook for the 1956-57 season, having to find replacements for Lawn, Vorderer, Buckley, Bryant, and defensemen Bob Averill and Dick Andrews. But he will have "Rocket Richie" Cavanaugh, plus Wenham and Johnson around which to build an offense and a fine defense combination in Johanson and Ray Bell, cousin of the coach.

Baseball

By CAROL GREENE
AND JIM DEFELICE

PILOTED for the last time by Coach Gallagher, the veteran N.U. Nine concluded the '55 baseball season in fourth place in the G.B.L., sporting an overall record of 9 wins, 11 losses.

On paper, at least, this was Northeastern's year; on the playing field the statistics did not ring true. The squad had thirteen well-groomed, well-seasoned letter men, in addition to a sophomore sensation and an improved draft-returnee, but the lack of perfect team co-ordination and clutch playing dampened N.U.'s hopes of the league leadership. 'Old Lady Luck' seemed to smile the other way in crucial moments.

The nucleus of the team rested mostly with the 'little guy'. Outstanding in all respects were the Haverhill Hurricane, Don Eason, and the fleet-footed Framingham Flyer, Dick Carter. In his final year of college ball, Eason saw action in fourteen of the twenty games, acting as starting pitcher, fireman, and batting star. The twenty-year-old southpaw, who along with his brother Ron was named to the G.B.L. All Star Team for the third consecutive year, picked up 83 strikeouts in 85 innings to bring his college total to 188 and set a Northeastern record. Eason proved to be a good hitting pitcher, second to Carter in batting with a .333 season's average.

The G-Men started off on the wrong foot by dropping two of their first three games. A home run by George Drope turned the tide in the season's opener as the Huskies bowed to UConn. 6-2.

A towering double by Carter, followed by a single by Ercolini, provided the margin of victory in the 4-1 defeat of the B.U. Terriers.

Despite the third fine relief job in a row turned in by Eason, N.U. could not pull the Colby game out of the fire and yielded to the Mules 6-1.

In their next encounter the Huskies lost a heart-breaker to W.P.I. when a ninth inning rally by the Red and Black fell one run short, 6-5.

Four-hit pitching by southpaw Eason and a homer, double, and two singles by Carter sparked the G-Men to an 11-0 win over Tufts in the second G.B.L. game.

In their annual Maine trip the N.U. nine defeated Bates 5-4, thanks to effective relief pitching by fireman Eason, only to drop their second straight to Colby, again by a one run margin, 3-2. N.U. out-hit the Mules 10-6 but left men stranded in every inning.

Harvard came out on top of a 4-3 decision as Crim-son relief hurler Rosanno pitched 4 1/3 innings of scoreless ball behind an errorless Harvard team. Eason and Rosanno were voted Co-Stars of the week by league coaches.

The Haverhill Hurricane reached his peak in a fourteen innning tilt with B.C., striking out 14, in a game that ended in a 1-1 tie and was later awarded to the Eagles, 2-1, on a protested decision.

Carrer took over the regular center field position with professional ease, exhibiting skill, speed, and flawless and spectacular glove work. The versatile Carter appeared in all twenty games, was tied for the leadership in home runs with Ercolini and doubles with Ron Eason, maintaining a .350 batting mark this year. In this, his first year of varsity ball, he was cited for his outstanding offensive and defensive ball playing by being elected to the All Star Team of Boston Colleges.

Captain-elect, Bob Ercolini, returning after four years in the service, proved himself to be the power hitting right fielder N.U. needed, having to his credit two homers and a neat .316 batting average.

With the exception of Carter and Ercolini the regular line up fluctuated fairly closely to that of the '54 season. Captain Dave Nelson in left field completed one of the greatest out fields in Northeastern's history. "The ballplayer's ballplayer" earned his title by always coming through with timely hits and expert fielding.

The other half of the star Eason battery, Ron, saw plenty of action behind the plate, backed up by sophomores Dick Surrette and Bob Kelley.

year's. Big right-handed power hitter Fran McCabe held down the first base berth competently, but was continually challenged by sophomore Ron Ayotte of Lynn. The Keystone combination shifted back and forth between Joe DeRosa, this year's MIP, Clyde DeWolfe, Angie Toyias, and Warren Fiske. At third, Bob Kelley and George O'Rourke split the duties.

Coach Gallagher had a good pitching squad behind Eason in Bob Bigger, who brought his two year total to 7-3, Dick Hill with a 1-0 record, Frannie Brian, George Dowd, Wally Silva, and George Buchanan.

In a onesided slug fest the G-Men unleashed their big bats for a staggering total of seventeen hits off their country cousins from Worcester and toppled Clark 23-3 in an open house game.

The Red and Black finally came to life in successive games with Brandeis and soundly trounced the Judges from Waltham 15-2, 10-2. In the first tilt Eason held the Brandeis boys to eight hits, and Bob Bigger turned in his best performance to date yielding only two hits and striking out nine in the second.

After pushing forty-eight runs across the plate in their three previous games the Huskies ran their win streak to four straight by defeating New Hampshire 10-6.

It took Tufts to cool N.U. off, 8-6, with a four run rally in the ninth.

Northeastern bounced back with a 12-5 win over Tech in a game which saw the G-Men come from behind with a nine-run outburst in the sixth inning to clinch the victory.

UMass. squeaked by the Huskies 3-2 in another pitcher's duel despite the all-out-efforts of Eason who struck out nine Indians in as many innings.

The Red and Black chalked up another victory over M.I.T., 4-1 on another fine pitching job by Bob Bigger.

Eason again went the route against B.C., adding twelve strike outs to his record, but the N.U. bats failed to rally behind him as the Huskies bowed, 4-2.

A.I.C. kept the big Husky bats virtually silent in the final game while racking up twelve runs in a one sided slugfest, 12-1.

An unexperienced Northeastern baseball team under the reins of a rookie coach rebounded after a dismal start to finish the 1956 season with the best all time won and loss record in NU history.

With Tinker Connelly, ex-football, baseball and hockey star, coaching in his first season, Northeastern completed its campaign with a 14 and 7 mark which broke the record of 13 wins set by the 1955 squad. To accomplish this feat the Huskies had to win their last three games.

Travelling to Springfield Northeastern defeated the Gymnasts 11-9. The Huskies overcame a two run deficit in the fifth with three runs to take the lead. Two runs by Springfield put the home team in front in the last of the seventh. NU staged rallies in the eighth and ninth to win the game.

A five run first and a three run third gave Northeastern an 8-0 lead over American International. A.I.C. worked away at the lead but the Huskies held off to win 11-7. This enabled NU to tie the record of 13 wins in one season.

The baseball team broke the record in the last game of the season against Boston College by scoring four runs in the ninth inning to nip the Eagles 10-9.

Northeastern opened the season by dropping its first two games to Boston University and the University of Connecticut 7-4 and 20-4 respectively.

The Terriers built up a 7-0 lead in the first four innings. Northeastern rallied but fell short.

Connecticut hammered six NU pitchers for 14 hits and 20 runs. The Connelly men scored four runs on only two hits but could not overcome the UConn's overwhelming lead.

Northeastern won a Patriots Day doubleheader to even their season's record. In the morning game sophomore Dick Johnson, making his first collegiate start, blanked Boston University 2-0 on a one hitter. Johnson had a no hitter for eight innings before a pop fly dropped into center field for a base hit.

In the afternoon game Northeastern outlasted the University of Maine to win 12-11. The big bat of first baseman Ron Ayotte paced the NU victory.

George Dowd pitched the Huskies to their third straight victory hurling a two hitter to defeat Worcester Polytech 8-2. Dowd retired 23 consecutive batters after yielding a single and a home run in the third inning.

Tech man forced out at home.

Bobby Girouard drove in three Northeastern runs with a brace of singles.

The Husky win streak was snapped by Tufts 6-5. The Jumbos scored three runs in the ninth inning to win the game. Johnson held the winners in tact for six innings before tiring. Three relief pitchers were unable to halt the Tufts rally in the final frame.

Northeastern lost successive games to Bates 7-3 and Harvard 8-2. Bates pitcher Bud Jack dominated the Bates win by hitting a grand slam home run and limiting the Huskies to eight hits and three runs.

Batting stars for NU were Ayotte with a double and two singles and Girouard with two singles.

The baseball team bounced back with victories over Brandeis and Clark. Capitalizing on shoddy Brandeis fielding Northeastern over-came a 6-3 lead to win 7-6.

Batting out their largest run total of the season the Huskies trounced Clark 15-8.

Brandeis avenged an early loss by shutting out NU 5-0. This marked the only shut-out suffered by the baseball team during the season.

George Dowd pitched a three hitter to defeat Boston College 8-2. B.C. had only lost two games in eight starts and both were to Northeastern.

Dick Conley led the Huskies offense with three singles. Conley sparked the Huskies' five run rally in the sixth with a bases loaded single.

Northeastern closed out the season by winning nine of its final ten games. After the BC victory the Huskies outlasted Rhode Island 8-6, downed New Hampshire 7-3, lost to Tufts 8-4, shut out MIT 4-0, nipped Massachusetts 3-2 and edged MIT 5-3.

Another NU victory as two Maine sprinters are outclassed in the NU Cage.

Track

By MATT RING

AFTER last year's undefeated season, Coach Gerry Tatton and Captain Bob Hefford looked forward to 1957 with optimistic eyes. They had basically the same team as last year with exception of former captain Stan Clark and Bill Sellars. Augmenting Hefford were: Charlie Miller, New England 500 yard indoor champ; top sprinter, Jack MacCarthy, in the dash; Dave Ryan, favorite in the long distance events; and enough depth in the other events to assure plenty of second and third places.

Led by a powerful group of middle-distance men with individual standouts in the short runs Northeastern was able to win four of the six indoor events. Topped by the Huskies were Connecticut, Bates, New Hampshire and Providence. Only undefeated Maine and Tufts were able to tie the Huskies down.

One of the big features of the 1956 season was the scheduling of two night indoor meets in the new cage.

Captain Bob Hefford finished the indoor season with six wins in the 600. Hefford set the Bates Cage record and he holds the N.U. Cage mark of 1:16.3.

Charlie Miller came up with five wins in the dash and six victories in the 300. Miller also holds Northeastern's Cage record in the 300, 220 and 100.

Joe Maria proved to be one of the most improved and outstanding performers of the year. Competing in the broad jump and high jump as well as starring in the hurdles, the Watertown athlete proved to be one of the best assets on the team.

Other chief competitors were Gene Renzi in the shotput; sophomore Jerry Boyle, pole vault; Bill Spencer and Clarence Hilton in the distance events; George Campor in the row mile; Tom Lacey in the 1000 and mile runs; Niel Dempsey in the 600 and everybody's favorite, Dave Ryan.

The starting gun went off on Saturday, January 6, against Tufts College at Medford, in the Cousens Cage. Jack Fanser and company proved too much for the Huskies defeating them 67½ to 40½. The loss was the first for Coach Tatton in two years of indoor competition.

Bob Hefford was the star as Northeastern picked up their first win of the season over Bates. The Huskies topped the Bobcats 70-56 on the Mainemen's home ground. Hilton and Miller were also standouts in the contest.

On Friday, February 17, Northeastern held its first indoor night dual track meet in their new Cage. It was a festive evening all around with Charlie Miller and Joe Maria scoring 19 points to crush the hapless Providence harriers 71 1/3 to 26 1/3. The win was the seventh consecutive home win for the Huskies.

The following Wednesday the Tattonmen staged a real thriller, coming from behind in the last event to outlast New Hampshire 61-56. The last minute spurt was accomplished by the outstanding work of Charlie Miller and newcomer sensation Jack McCarron.

MLT. was the next hurdle for the Red and Black as they traveled to Cambridge for another victory. Joe Maria and Jack McCarron were the outstanding performers for Coach Tatton.

Johnson of Tufts nips Miller.

The team suffered its second defeat of the season when an undefeated Maine team turned them back 64-53. The loss was the first on home ground for the Huskies since the new cage opened last year.

A feature of the meet was Charlie Miller running in the low hurdles for the first time of his life. The fleet-footed Miller placed second to Maine's Jim Varner. He also won the dash and the 300 yard event pacing the N.U. squad with 13 points.

Dave Ryan won the 1000 yard in 2:23.3 beating his previous best time by three seconds.

Similarly, the Tattonmen enjoyed a very successful outdoor track season registering three victories in dual competition, one loss, and a third place in a quadrangular meet.

In their first outdoor attempt Northeastern copped a 74-61 decision over a powerful Providence Squad on April 20th at Providence. Jack McCarron was the meet's outstanding performer and high scorer with 15 points. Jack won the 440 and broad jump, placed second in the 220 and tied for second in the high jump.

Dave Ryan and Tom Lacey switched events and as a result both won. Sidelined for the past year, Junior Marty Pendleton entered in both the hurdles and the pole vault. He placed third in the pole vault, but failed to score in the hurdles.

Hurt by the absence of Husky aces Charlie Miller and Clarence Hilton, both of whom were ill and could not make the trip with the team, the Red and Black suffered their first set-back of the season to Connecticut 74-69. Captain Hefford ran a perfectly paced quarter-mile to win in 51 seconds flat. Connecticut's win was due to the domination of the running events, winning every event but the quarter mile.

A major upset over Springfield College at Pratt Field, was paced by Charlie Miller who scored for three first places in the close 68-67 victory. Miller won the 100, 220, and 220 low hurdles.

Jerry Downey and Jack McCarron continued as standouts in the major upset of the season.

Rhode Island University and Boston College, the added guests to the Northeastern-Tufts dual track meet spoiled the Huskies chances for another win as Rhode Island won with 63½ points, followed by Tufts with 52½, N.U. with 36 and B.C. with 13.

The combination of Rhode Island field events men and B.C. hurdlers hit the Huskies where it hurt the most. High scorer for N.U. was Charlie Miller, who won both the 100 and 220 dashes with ease.

The 220 proved to be the team's strongest event as they took first, third, and fourth places. Miller winning it, Jack McCarron third and Jack McCarthy taking fourth place.

Northeastern's Track Team, led by the 15-point performance of Charlie Miller, edged out a powerful M.I.T. club in the final dual meet of the outdoor season 69-53, at Briggs Field on May 12th.

Much of the credit goes to Charlie Miller as he duplicated his Springfield triple win with victories in the 100, 200, and 220 low hurdles.

Bob Hefford was also a standout winning the 440 and placing second in the half-mile.

It was the last dual meet for Capt. Bob Hefford, Gene Renzi, George Campot, Larry Amoroso, Marty Pendleton, and everybody's favorite, D. J. Ryan.

Top scorer for the season was Charlie Miller with 108 points.

Up and over we go.

Cross Country

The Northeastern Cross Country Team of 1955 proved to be the winningest club since the famed 1953 team headed by the school's famous distance runners Dick Ollen and Ed Shea.

Under the able leadership of Captain Tom Lacey, former 600 yard schoolboy ace, the team conquered Brown, N. H., R. I., W. P. I., Tufts, and M. I. T.

In the season opener a new star was found. Clarence Hilton, fresh from a two year hitch in the Army, led the team to a 35-22 victory over Brown University. He was followed by teammate Mack Giovanni in the 3rd spot, Bill Spencer 5th, Capt. Lacey 6th and Jerry Boyle 9th.

The following week a 1, 2, 3, by Hilton, Spencer and Capt. Lacey gave N.U. an automatic victory with a score of 17-46 over the University of New Hampshire. Hilton shot home to victory with a time of 21:06 which was 3:24 better than the Brown race time. Bill Harrington and Pete Martus came through with 5th and 6th places to put the meet on ice.

Against the University of Rhode Island the 1-2 punch of Hilton and Spencer paced a 21-39 victory over the Rams. Mack Giovanni again was the third man, taking fifth place. Steadily improving, Harrington was the fourth N.U. runner in 6th spot. Dave Ryan, former Cross Country Captain of the 1954 season, captured 6th spot.

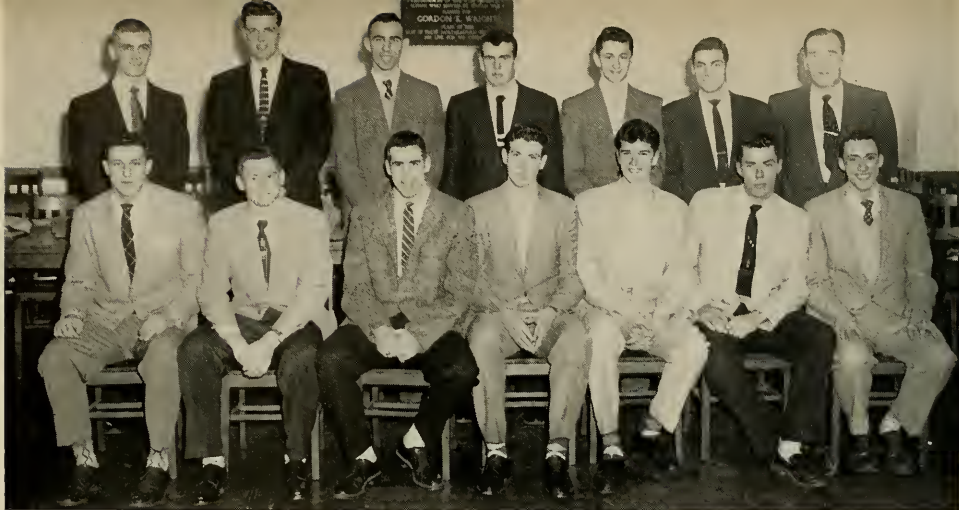

Running their first tri-meet in many years proved costly for the team. They easily won the regular scheduled meet with W.P.I. but the addition of powerful Providence College proved too much for the Huskies as they received their first set back of the season.

On the following Saturday, Franklin Park, site of all Northeastern home meets, was flooded by the severest rain storm of the year, which forced Coach Tatton to move the meet over to Jamaica Pond. The UConn. "mud-ders" led by Lou Stieglitz, New England 1 and 2 mile champ, easily defeated the Huskies 21-37. Starting in a losing cause for N.U. was Hilton, Giovanni, and Capt. Lacey, who finished 2, 6, 7 respectively.

In the season's finale, Hilton, the team's most reliable runner, paced the team to a N.U. 32-M.I.T. 35-Tufts 69 victory. Spencer, Lacey followed closely behind Hilton in 5th and 6th spots. The top five was rounded out by Bill Harrington who finished 9th. Harrington later was chosen by the News as the team's most improved player for his constant improvement over the course of the season.

In the 46th annual N.E.I.C.A.A. Cross Country Meet, the team placed a strong fifth in a field of 18 teams. The first N.U. runner to cross the finish line was Bill Spencer, who, on the following week, was elected captain of the 1956 squad. Spencer, the track team top miler, will be leading a top notch team this fall. The team is losing George Campot and D. J. Ryan due to the fifth year ineligibility rule.

Basketball

By MATT RING

AT the start of the season, Coach Zabilski said, "This should be an interesting season, one way or another." And that's just the way it went. The Huskies ran hot and cold all season. At times they looked like the best team Northeastern has ever produced and at times the poorest.

The Huskies split their 1955-56 schedule, ending the season with 10 wins and 11 losses. The only new addition to their 21 game roster was Suffolk University.

Sophomore Bill Colby was the most surprising factor of the year. He rewrote five of the six major scoring marks.

Colby's top achievement was a 444 point output for the season. This was the third consecutive season the mark was broken, but, the first time a sophomore has turned the trick. The previous mark was set by Eddie Ayres, who broke Joe Wetzler's record of 368, with a 402 point effort.

Colby also set the individual records for a single game score (38), for the NU Gym high (36), half time high (21), and fouls for one game (18). Wetzler's percentage record for the 53-54 season of 51 percent was the only individual mark that the sensational soph left intact.

His best game was the victory over Clark when he hit for a .636 percentage, hitting for 14 of 22 field goal attempts, and 12 of 15 charity throws for a 38 point total.

The Z-men faced the University of Massachusetts at Amherst with only four lettermen returning from the previous season. George O'Rourke, took over from Ed Ayres, Al Coleman started at guard, Captain Dick Brooks at center and Bob Kearns, forward. Sophomore Bill Colby rounded out the first team.

U-Mass belted the Huskies 69-45 as the team showed a strong case of first game jitters. Captain Dick Brooks led the team with a 17 point total. George O'Rourke was second with 14.

Showing much improvement, Northeastern dropped a heartbreaker to Harvard 72-64. The nip-and-tuck affair was sparked by Al Coleman in the first half with his jump shooting.

Let George do it.

Northeastern took the lead at half time 32-29 and kept it until the last three minutes of play. Bill Colby showed his stuff in the second quarter with his rebounding and scoring play. He was high man for the night with 14.

Brandeis marred the Huskies first home game handing them a 50-70 decision in a hotly contested game. Bill Colby paced the Northeastern attack hitting for 22 points and playing a fine floor game. Colby was supported by Captain Dick Brooks who hit for 16 and George O'Rourke with 13.

In their fourth attempt to win a ball game NU went down again by a 78-51 margin at the hands of Brown. After taking an early lead, Brown wrapped the game up before it was two periods old. Colby again was high man for the losers with 14, the only man on the squad to hit the double figures.

Northeastern won its first game in fine fashion, upsetting the Boston College Eagles at the NU gym 62-51. Bill Colby shone that night, hitting for 21 points and doing a good rebounding job.

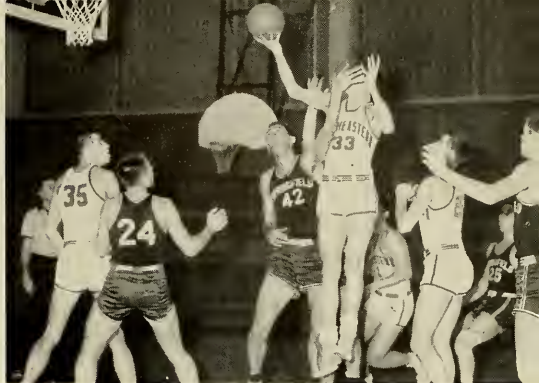

At the end of the first quarter the Huskies led 20-8. BC narrowed the margin at the half 39-29. Pecking at the lead in the second half the Eagles came within three points of tying the game. Northeastern rebuilt the lead with the inside scoring of Colby and Kearns.

In their sixth start, the Huskies dropped another contest, this time to BU 73-59. The Terriers, paced by Kevin Thomas, held the NU squad helpless until 10 minutes and 45 seconds had elapsed in the first quarter.

The team, hurt by the vacation layoff, didn't show the same brand of ball as they played against Boston College.

Kevin Thomas, the biggest factor in the defeat, stopped Bill Colby and scored 25 points in the bargain.

Another one for the record book.

Get your hand out of my face, you ruffian.

Then came the fireworks, paced by the record-breaking play of sophomore Bill Colby, the Huskies won nine of their next twelve games.

They chalked up three successive wins over northern opponents in four days, dumping the University of Maine, Bates College and University of New Hampshire. Up till this time NU's record was one win and five losses.

Standouts in the terrific scoring surge were Bill Colby with 63 points; Captain Dick Brooks with 56 and George O'Rourke with 40.

Frank Kryple won himself a starting berth on the northern trip and Joe Pumphret took over the sixth man spot.

The Huskies began their winning streak with a squeaker over Maine at home 65-64. Colby had 22 for the course and Brooks 16.

Next of the list was Bates. Northeastern bombed the smaller northern five 81-51. Captain Dick Brooks was top scorer in the contest with 20 points. Following was Colby with 19, O'Rourke with 19 and Pumphret 14.

Their most successful week of play was rounded out with a win over the University of New Hampshire 84-76 to bring the season record to 4 wins and 5 losses. Colby was top scorer with 22, followed by Brooks with 20 and O'Rourke with 18.

On January 14th, Northeastern traveled down to Rhode Island in a losing cause, dropping a dull contest 71-58. Brooks picked up 20 points in the encounter and Colby 15.

Their next two starts proved more effective as Colby and company downed Tufts 74-58 and blasted MIT 69-41. The Sophomore sensation picked up 52 points in the two game period, 28 against Tufts and 24 against MIT.

On the way to a new record.

Boston University again proved a stumbling block for the Z-men tipping them 89-58, prior to final exams.

They also dropped the following game on January 28 to St. Michaels. The Vermont team showed the Huskies some of the best basketball and ran up the largest score the Red and Black have seen all season, 92-63.

Northeastern again hit the winning road capturing their next four games to give them a 12-8 record thus far.

Bill Colby showed the way against Clark College, breaking the game high total set by Joe Wetzler, scoring 38 points before the game ended. The previous high for a single player was 34, set by Joe in the 1952-53 season. Final score, NU 67—Clark 64.

On February 8th, Northeastern raised their average to .500 with a 57-53 win over Suffolk, the only new entry on the schedule. Bill Colby was again the pace-maker with a 27 point effort.

NU dropped WPI for its third straight. Colby got 24 points, followed by Brooks with 18, Krypel with 15, Young with 13 and Ford with 9.

Colby continued to rewrite the NU basketball records rolling up a 36 point total against Springfield. The 66-60 final was aided by the defensive play of Captain Dick Brooks who grabbed 21 rebounds.

The season ended on a sour note as the Huskies dropped their three final games, to the University of Connecticut, American International and Middlebury.

The strong UConn quintet defeated the Huskies 80-74 in the most hotly contested game of the season. Captain Dick Brooks led the pack with 24 points followed closely by Bill Colby who scored 23 points. Frank Krypel hit for 10 and Tom Ford for 8 points.

Back on home grounds Northeastern lost an 84-68 decision to AIC of Springfield on February 18th.

Colby was the one bright spot for Northeastern, scoring 25 points. His first basket enabled him to break the previous season scoring of 402 points set by Eddie Ayers. Captain Dick Brooks hit for 23 points.

The Middlebury contest provided what was the poorest game of the season for the Huskies. The last game saw Northeastern hit for only 31 percent of their shots and the Panthers 28 percent was enough to result in a 56-47 win.

Bill Colby, who scored 18 points, fouled out with four minutes left to play. It was the first time Colby fouled out this season.

Captain Brooks, playing in his final game scored 14 points. He also had the distinction of scoring the first and last baskets of the season for the Huskies. Other seniors bowing out were Dick Kearns and George O'Rourke, who had been on the injury list since he fractured his ankle in the MIT game.

Krypel cripples 'em with two more.

Varsity Rifle Team

Seated: French, Cronan, Flemming, Zieba. Standing: Lt.-Col. Parkin (adviser), Capt. Burk (adviser), Diamond, Sgt. Wigley (adviser).

Varsity Rifle Club

ENJOYING one of its most successful seasons to date, the NU Varsity Rifle Team wound up its year with an impressive 40 won-13 lost record.

A member of the newly formed Greater Boston Rifle League, NU finished second in the League, trailing the Cambridge sharpshooters from MIT. The other teams that comprise the league are Boston University, Wentworth, Harvard, Boston College, and Tufts.

Frosh Riflers scored an 11-12 record by season's end in match competition.

The Rifle Team is coached by Sgt. Jeremiah J. Wigley and Captain Frank E. Burk is the Range Officer.

Hus-Skiers

ONE of Northeastern's larger and more active groups, the Hus-Skiers are a double sided organization. The club is operated for the benefit of the University's skiing enthusiasts, while the club in turn sponsors the Ski Team.

In the Season's competition, NU placed second to one of the strongest Ski teams Boston University has put on the snow in a long time. The team, gaining experience in every meet, finally knocked off the league leader in the finale to the winter sports season.

The team is coached by former NU skier, David Knapton, and was captained by Charles Miller. The Club was headed by Warren Thompson; Prof. Benjamin Perles was the faculty adviser.

Prof. Perles takes a lesson in skiing during the annual Winter Carnival.

Commencement Week

Monday

Dinner-Dance

New Ocean House

Swampscott

The beginning of the end. First full scale Commencement Week event was the Dinner-Dance. The food served here is as famous as the resort hotel itself. Little wonder a sellout crowd attended.

A view of the crowd from the other side of the hall shows some of the 225 happy Sultans with their harems preparing to feed their 450 equally as happy collective faces.

Popular Professor of English and Public Speaking, Eugene Blackman, was the main speaker of the evening. Always entertaining he is particularly so after being well fed. To the right of Prof. Blackman is his charming wife Edna — who keeps him well fed — and Senior Class Adviser, Alan Mackey.

Dean of Students, Harold Melvin, addressed the Seniors and explained the degrees to be conferred that night upon the wives of the married students.

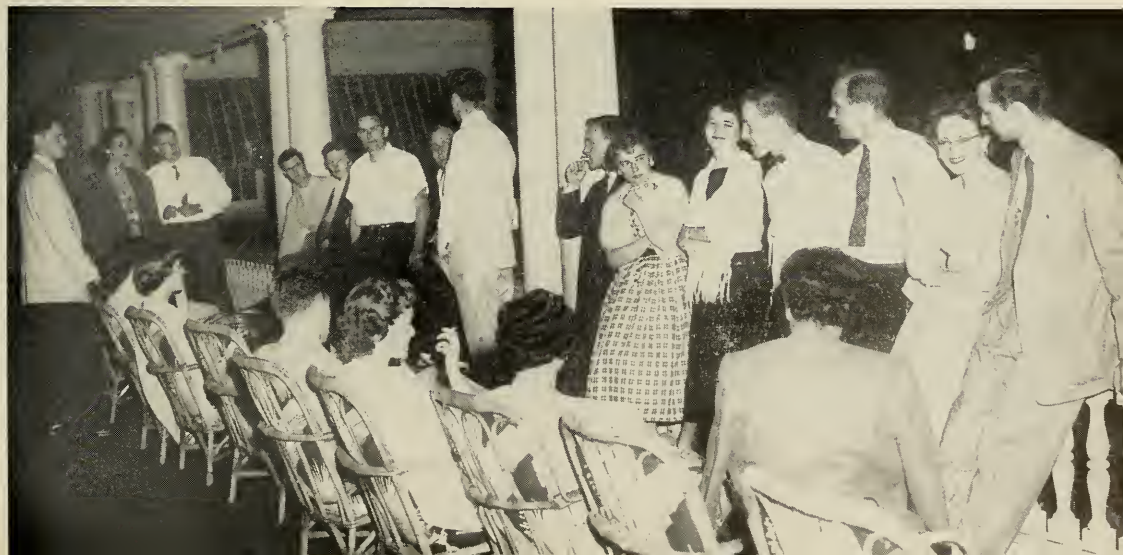

Mrs. Gordon Greene receives her P.A.L. (Partner in Academic Labors) degree from Dean Melvin. Her husband, Gordon, at the head table, reads the list of the other recipients.

Goodnight Fair Harvard! NU Sailors pull out of their pier as the chartered sail from Harvard awaits sailing time from the pier next door.

Just underway, the passengers settle back for a peaceful evening of waves, breeze and stars. It's times like these that make the five years it took to earn them seem worthwhile.

Another congregation on the fantail. By the way, that's ginger ale in those paper cups.

The engineers whoop it up on the top deck. From the look on Walenty's face, (center), he appears to be up to no good.

Below deck is another congregation. This party is supervised by Prof. Mackey and his attractive wife.

Seniors swing and sway in time with the swing and the sway. Dig that crazy hat (extreme left).

Finale to a grand week. Another day and a half and even the married students will become bachelors.

Boston Garden

Dr. Ell places L.I.D. hood on Commencement speaker, Senator John F. Kennedy.

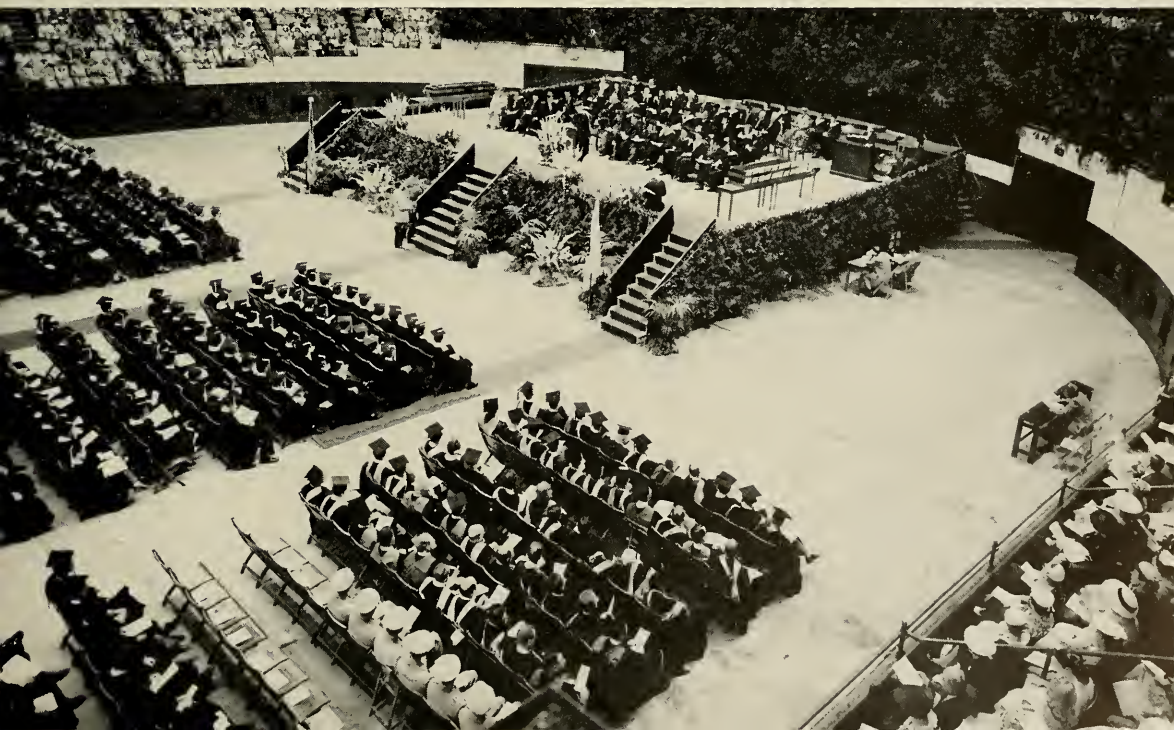

Col. Murray Harris swears in 7 new 2nd-Lts, prior to the Commencement ceremonies. Lts. Marmares, Cohen, Salamy, Paradiso, Murphy, Horvitz, and Leone all attended R.O.T.C. Summer Camp last year.

President Eliot and Chairman of the Board Dodge lead the procession into the Boston Garden.

This is the way it looked from the balcony.

— R.O.T.C. Summer Camp —

Cadets Jim Stoddard, Bill Truehart, and Hut Johnson arrive at camp.

Don't kid yourself, this game is for blood.

A familiar sight to NU Cadets is the Saturday morning parade.

Four cadets get a taste of tear gas in the gas chamber while another cadet camouflages himself in a foxhole.

Don Marquis (Center) looks like a vicious killer while a signal cadet goes up for a better view.

A humorous teaching aid has an ominous sound.

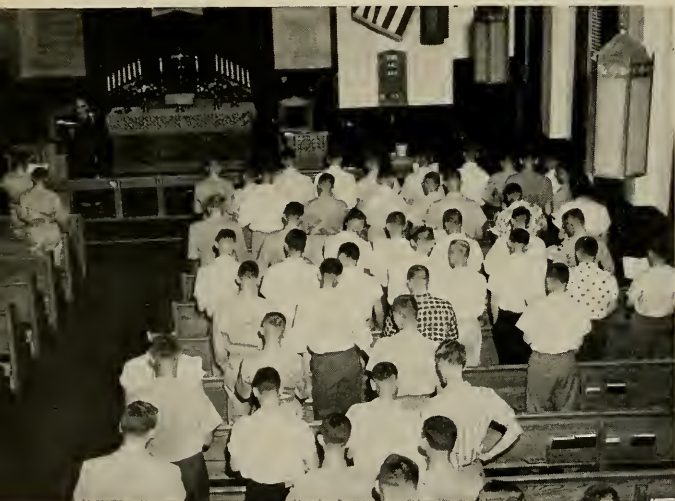

Army chow picnic style at Fort Gordon Field mess is a welcome sight on a busy day.

Not quite like what we think of as a classroom, but a classroom just the same.

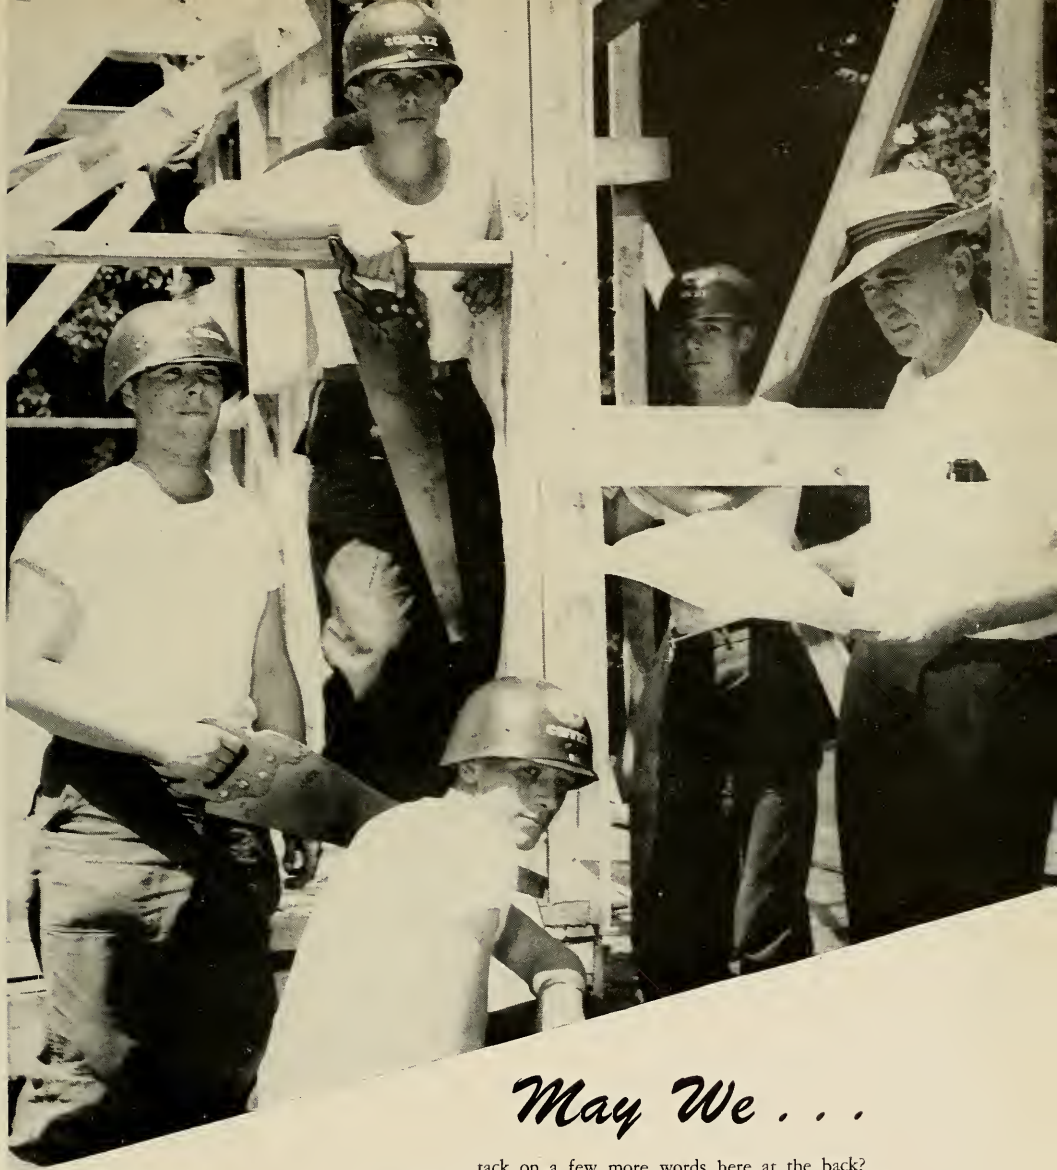

Sunday morning wherever you go in the Army is church time.

White gloves are useful in finding dust.

Weekend time is socializing time. On the facing page, Engineering College Dean, William Alexander, inspects the work of Cadets Coffee, DeMers, Schultz, and West at Fort Belvoir.

May We . . .

. . . tack on a few more words here at the back?

We hope you like your college yearbook and will get as much fun out of it in the years to come as we did putting it together for you. Although the book is a little late in getting to you, we think you'll find the wait was worthwhile. These last fourteen pages represent some of the most important collegiate days of your life and to us they were worth holding up the book in order to be included. Thanks for your patience.

P.S. The entire 1956 Cauldron staff sends along every good wish for you in all your future endeavors. Don't forget to keep the Alumni Office posted so we can all keep track of your successes.

How new sight for subs helps guard our shores

As the world's leader in radar, Raytheon was selected to design and produce a new-type radar for the U.S. Navy's "picket" submarines—as well as for the Arctic DEW-line. These radar webs give vital advance warning of unidentified aircraft.

Guided missiles—microwave communications—transistors—submarine detection: these are only a few of the exciting fields in which Raytheon is pioneering.

Never before has electronics offered such a bright future to engineers and others who take deep pride in a job well done.
